

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A non-contact IC card reader/writer device includes antennas that perform carrier wave transmission and reception with a non-contact IC card,
5 an A/D converter that detects the voltage level of each carrier wave received from the non-contact IC card through the antennas, and a control unit that calculates the location of the non-contact IC card from the voltage levels detected by the A/D converter.